Sight Glass, coolant analysis (aircon. service unit)

This sight glass enables visual inspection of the refrigerant or compressor oil and provides valuable information on the condition of the refrigerant. For example, it is possible to check whether chips or other foreign bodies have permeated the system, whether the compressor oil has become discoloured or whether water is present. The connections for R134a or R1234yf must be ordered separately.

- With integrated filter
- Easy dismantling for cleaning
